Finding home in God. Creating home for others.

10 Years Ago...

In 2014, a group of 20 started a new church on Roosevelt Island. We would have never imagined what God would do in us, through us, and even in spite of us. As we reflect on the past 10 years, we turn our eyes, hearts, resources, and prayers to the next 10, asking the question, “God, what would you have me give to help create a spiritual home for myself and others?”

Post Covid-19 Trends

1

Minimal Stabilization

90% of church communities are either growing or closing. For most churches, the future is uncertain.

2

Millenials

(1981-1995) Millenials are the core of the American church.

3

Gen Z

(1996-2010) Gen Z is a significant voice shaping the church.

4

Digital

Discipleship now includes of a variety of digital components.

Post Covid-19 Trends

5

Volunteerism

Consistent volunteerism has decreased.

6

Pastoral Care

The demands of pastoral care have increased drastically.

7

Transiency

Transiency has increased around the country, most specifically in global cities.

A Cultural Problem

Renter's Mentality

Renter's mentality is often described as a mindset that is short-sighted and self-focused. It is a mindset that is consumed with where "I" will be in the future? and what "I" must have to get there, and thus struggles to establish owner-like investment in the present.

Survival Mode

Renter's mentality often coincides with something we call "survival mode". With this mentality, self-preservation becomes priority and we miss out on the thriving and Shalom that God says is available to us when we are able to focus on the well-being of others and having a high ownership in our present community.

A Spiritual Solution: Creating Home

Home In God

Over the next two years Mosaic Church will continue to give generously to create environments where congregants can experience the presence of God and learn about an embodied way of living in New York that is best summed up by “abidance”, or finding home in God’s love.

Home For Others

Jesus says that those who give their lives away for him, will find them. We believe that our maturation as Christians is intricately linked to helping others find home in God. Thus, Mosaic will enter into a focused season of stewarding our resources to create home for others, trusting we will thrive as well.

1 million dollars over two years

Marked By Generosity

We sense that God has the Mosaic family at an inflection point: where what we do in this season may have ripple effects for the next decade or more. Sacrificial generosity now, in a time of scarcity and transiency, has the ability to mark our community as one of Faith as a God of provision works on our behalf for years to come.

A Spiritual Solution

Mosaic Church NYC

An international, justice-oriented, church family that is strategically creating home for internationals, young adults, and the next generation around NYC.
